Facility

Physical Appearance: The premise must be neat and free of clutter inside and out. The grounds must be mowed and kept free of waste, unused and discarded materials. All buildings must be in good repair. The premise should reflect a positive image.

Animal Security: The facility must be designed and constructed for proper housing of dogs. All animal containment areas, primary enclosures, exercise areas and building are secure from animal escape and prevent predator intrusion.

Waste Disposal: The building must be maintained with minimal odors, drafts, ammonia levels and condensation. Waste and water must be readily eliminated from the animal area as needed to minimize contamination and disease risks. Old excreta must be removed.

Surfaces and Cleaning: The facility must be free of rust and chewed surfaces. All surfaces must contribute to a sanitary environment. All components of construction must be structurally intact and/or replaceable when necessary.
